- Solution to improve the peripheral microcirculation and enhance the appearance of the skin

Description

Cumarin contains active ingredients that give the skin a restructuring effect, improving the peripheral microcirculation and condition of the skin. Its naturally-sourced active ingredients and plant extracts act on the different layers of the skin.

The bioflavenoids, Rutin and Melilotus, classified as vitamin P, act as a skin toner and conditioner, improving microcirculation. This all has a refreshing, restorative effect on the skin. Asiatic Centella contains pentacyclic components and triterpene derivatives that stimulate the fibroblasts, enhancing the skin tone, its appearance and suppleness.

APPLICATION

Cumarin is the perfect product to improve the skin's circulation. Basically, it can either be applied topically to the skin or else through electromedical systems for the transdermal delivery of substances. Depending on the selected device and whether or not Cumarin is mixed with another product, the use of one vial per session is recommended, applied by massaging the area to be treated in circular, upward movements. The absorption of the product depends on the particular skin characteristics of each patient.

The recommended procedure, as a standard treatment, always depending on the specific case and under the supervision of the appropriate professional, could be 2 impact treatment sessions the first and second weeks, 1 session the third week and the final session in the fourth week. Subsequently, there could be a monthly maintenance session.

HOW IS IT USED?

Electroporation treatment

Micro-needling skin Dermopointer

Turtlepin

Active ingredients

CUMARIN: The key merit of melilotus is its venotonic effect, added to its anticoagulant, vasoprotective and diuretic action.

ASIATIC CENTELLA: In pharmacological terms, it principally exhibits healing and venotonic properties. Its components stimulate the activation of the production of collagen, affecting the skin. Scientific studies have also confirmed its toning action on the circulation.
